Jaroslav Cimerá and His Great Band

BAND DAY is always a big feature of every Redpath Chautauqua, and from present indications it long will be. The fourth day of the Redpath Chautauqua this year is to be Band Day. Jaroslav Cimerá and his great concert band will render two programs—one in the afternoon and one in the evening. The program will include some of the well known heavy overtures, and the encores will comprise some of the popular pieces of the day. Jaroslav Cimerá was born in Pilsen, Bohemia, the land from which many of our greatest musicians have come. He has, however, spent the greater part of his life in America, and the majority of the musicians who comprise his band are American born. Nine years ago Mr. Cimerá was playing trombone solos with Lones' Band in concerts in Orchestra Hall, Chicago. He has also appeared as soloist with Sousa and later with Hohnair Kryl's Band. For several years he acted as assistant director of Kryl's Band, and for three winter seasons he was trombonist in the Kryl Concert Company. During his forthcoming Chautauqua season Mr. Cimerá will not only direct his band, but will appear in trombone solos. Mr. Cimerá is not new to the Chautauqua. In fact, he has played for three seasons past in Chautauqua engagements.

TALK OF "YOUNG" COUNCIL THIS FALL.

Councilmen for the city of Hickman are due to be elected again this fall. Most, if not all, the present members of the board are rejoicing that they are nearing the end of their terms and positively decline to run again for this "thankless job." Some of them are advocating the election of a board of younger men; conservative fellows, of course, but a bunch with plenty of vim and ginger. This, we believe, is a timely suggestion and worthy of consideration. True, a "younger" bunch may have the tendency to make or break, but Mayor Dillon, whose time is not out for some time yet, would act as a governor to their actions and could give them the benefit of his knowledge and experience. It would be a propitious time to break in a new council. If the old board, as reported, desire to step down and out, let's give the young fellows a try-out with one term.

COTTON ACREAGE IS REDUCED 15 PER CENT.

The reduction in the acreage planted to cotton this year, as compared to that of 1914, is 15.4 per cent, according to reports of correspondents of the Commercial Appeal. Planting is more generally completed than is usual at this time of the year, so that the above estimate is regarded as being based upon almost complete data. Diversified feed crops have taken the place of cotton in many fields.

The condition of the crop, compared to normal, is estimated at 80.2 per cent. This compares with 74.3 per cent on May 25.

In Fulton, Lake and Obion counties the estimated reduction is approximately 25 per cent.

JOHN DILLON NOW OWNER EMPRESS THEATRE.

The "Empress" Theatre, established here by W. J. Spradlin & Son a few months ago, has changed hands; John T. Dillon is the new owner, having taken possession Monday morning.

This show has enjoyed a liberal patronage and in return has given their patrons as good as could be had in motion pictures. It is hardly necessary to add that J. T. will keep it up to the standard established by the former owners.

Dr. R. P. Nall, of Armored, Ark., spent Saturday with B. Moore and family.

"A SAFE PLACE TO TRADE"

FIRST CAR CABBAGE TO GO THIS WEEK.

Our local truck association is about to realize first returns on the truck growing business, hunched here this spring. They expect to harvest and ship this week their first car load of cabbage.

Demonstrator J. E. Mitchum reports the cabbage crop as being exceptionally good. There are approximately 20 acres of this crop. It should, judging from present prospects, yield about 300 or more crates per acre, or a little better than 6,000 crates. Based upon present market quotations, these growers should realize about $80 an acre net from the cabbage crop.

A. O. Caruthers, president of the association, went to Dyer, Tenn., two days last week and purchased 2500 crates, which arrived here this week. This will take care of the immediate needs.

It might also be added that both the tomato and cantaloupe crops are doing nicely. Quite a number of truckers say that they have green tomatoes as large as hen's eggs.

STRANGE AIRCRAFT PASSES OVER HICKMAN IN NIGHT.

A strange, unidentified aircraft of some sort passed over Hickman about 9 o'clock Monday night, coming from the direction of Columbus and bearing in a southwesterly direction. The machine carried lights and the whirr of the propellers could be distinctly heard. It was seen by the people of Brownsville as it passed on toward the lake. Nothing further has been heard from it. Quite a few of our citizens saw the machine as it passed over and could detect the outline of its bulk, but it was not sufficiently clear to determine whether hydro-aeroplane or aeroplane or any marks of identification.

Mrs. J. H. Smothermon and little son left for their home in Blytheville, Ark., Sunday, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. B. Moore, and Master Swayne Smothermon.

Dr. H. E. Prather and wife left Sunday for Louisville to attend a big medical alumni association gathering, thence to Lexington for a short visit.

Col. Hugh A. Catron, age 98, the oldest and one of the most prominent citizens of Obion county, died last Wednesday night.

Go to the Crystal tonight.

Rural schools will begin the new term on July 5th and August 2nd. A careful record is now kept of the grade to which each pupil belongs which will enable teachers to assign pupils to the proper classes on the first day of school. Parents are requested not to permit pupils to buy new books until they have been assigned them by the teachers. Pupils who have moved into new districts should bring their report cards from last year when they enter new school. Rural schools are all graded and from the records every teacher will know what work was done last year and what is to be done this year. This next school year we hope that every district will make a special effort to encourage the 7th and 8th grade pupils to attend the full term of the school. Examinations will be held at each school and certificates of promotion be given to all who complete the 8th grade. From the number of pupils now in this grade we ought to have at least forty graduates next term.

Examination for teachers certificates will be held June 18th and 19th.

Teachers applying for positions in rural schools should file written applications with the division boards before June 5th.

Fulton county is entitled to one appointment for free tuition in Kentucky State University. This appointment may be used for any course offered. In addition we have four appointments that can be used in the Department of Education only. A competitive examination will be held, the date of which will be announced later. All applicants must have the equivalent of a high school education as the University no longer maintains a preparatory department.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harry J. Moorman was here Tuesday in the interest of his candidacy for reelection to his present office. Mr. Moorman feels greatly encouraged with his prospects of success as the campaign develops. In fact, his friends say he is "running like a scared wolf." The duties of this office have required his close attention for some weeks past. This has prevented him from making a close canvass as he would have liked during the interim—which is one more reason why he should merit consideration—but he is going to cover the ground thoroughly by Tuesday this date and the primary. The man who beats Harry Moorman will have to shake the bushes lively.

There's no denying the fact that Bunk Gardner is gaining ground in the race for circuit judge. The reputation he has as a lawyer of ability and his energy, which has always been a factor in his success, are strong points in his favor. — Curfiss County News.

mies to punish, no scores to settle, no debts to pay, no embarrassing entanglements. The men who would fight him are those whom he has, as a public official, held to a strict account of their obligations to the State—namely the men who represent the interests that try to escape a just share of taxation. Mr. Bosworth's record is fine. If he has not succeeded in accomplishing a revolution in the State's finances, it is to be charged to the obstruction and interference of others. He has been on the right track in trying to bring the offending corporations to time, and it looks like the Democrats should hold up his hands and give him an opportunity to carry the good work to a successful finish.

As was said before, we would not disparage any other candidate, for there may be a champion among them who can do the essential things that need to be done, or perhaps any of them could fill the bill; but at the present time, all things considered, Henry Bosworth seems to us the best man for the nomination. — Cynthia Democrat, March 11, 1915. mies to punish, no scores to settle, no debts to pay, no embarrassing entanglements. The men who would fight him are those whom he has, as a public official, held to a strict account of their obligations to the State—namely the men who represent the interests that try to escape a just share of taxation. Mr. Bosworth's record is fine. If he has not succeeded in accomplishing a revolution in the State's finances, it is to be charged to the obstruction and interference of others. He has been on the right track in trying to bring the offending corporations to time, and it looks like the Democrats should hold up his hands and give him an opportunity to carry the good work to a successful finish.

As was said before, we would not disparage any other candidate, for there may be a champion among them who can do the essential things that need to be done, or perhaps any of them could fill the bill; but at the present time, all things considered, Henry Bosworth seems to us the best man for the nomination. — Cynthia Democrat, March 11, 1915. CHAUTAUQUA TICKETS HIGHER NEXT WEEK.

Hickman's chautauqua is right on us again, the opening date being next Tuesday.

This reminds us that those who have not purchased tickets should do so at once. Prices will be advanced Monday from $2.00 to $2.50 for adults and from $1 to $1.25 for children.

It is by far more economical to purchase a season ticket if you expect to attend the chautauqua to any extent. The entire series, paid for at the gate, will cost $3.70. Four of the best numbers alone would cost the price of a season ticket. These tickets may be used by any member of the family, and certainly some member of the family will find a chance to attend each entertainment.

GERMAN NOTE RECEIVED. REPLY IS EVASIVE.

Germany's reply to the American note bearing "on the recent acts of the German authorities in violation of American rights on the high seas, which culminated in the torpedoing and sinking of the British steamship Lusitania, by which over 100 American citizens lost their lives," has been received and was made public Monday. As a whole, the note is not satisfactory, in as much as it makes no direct answer to the demands made by the United States.

The note is as follows:

"The imperial government has subjected the communication of the American government to a thorough investigation. It entertains also a keen wish to co-operate in a frank and friendly way in clearing up a possible misunderstanding which may have arisen in the relations between the two governments through the events mentioned by the American government.

"Regarding firstly, the case of the American steamers Cushing and Gulfight. The American embassy has already been informed that the German government has no intention of submitting neutral ships in the war zone, which are guilty of no hostile acts, to attacks by a submarine or submarines or aviators. On the contrary, the German forces have repeatedly been instructed most specifically to avoid attacks on such ships.

"If neutral ships in recent months have suffered through the German submarine warfare, owing to mistakes in identification, it is a question only of quite isolated and exceptional cases, which can be attributed to the British government's abuse of flags, together with the suspicious or culpable behavior of the masters of the ships.

"The German government in all cases in which it has been shown by the investigations that a neutral ship, not itself at fault, was damaged by German submarines or aviators, has expressed regret over the unfortunate accident and, if justified by conditions, has offered indemnification.

Time to Leave Falaba.

"The cases of the Crashing and the Gulfight will be treated on the same principles. An investigation of both cases is in progress the result of which will presently be communicated to the embassy. The investigation can, if necessary, be supplemented by an international commission of inquiry as provided by article 3 of the Hague agreement of Oct. 18, 1907.

"When sinking the British steamer Falaba, the commander of the German submarine had the intention of allowing the passengers and crew a full opportunity for a safe escape. Only when the master did not obey the order to heave-to, but fled and summoned help by rocket signals did the German commander order the crew and passengers by signals and megaphone to leave the ship within 10 minutes. He actually allowed them 23 minutes time and fired the torpedo only when suspicious craft were hastening to the assistance of the Falaba.

"Regarding the loss of life by the sinking of the British passenger steamer Lusitania, the German government has already expressed to the neutral governments concerned its keen regret that citizens of their States lost their lives.

"On this occasion the imperial government, however, cannot escape the impression that certain important facts having a direct bearing on the sinking of the Lusitania may have escaped the attention of the American government.

"In the interest of a clear and complete understanding, which is the aim of both governments, the imperial government considers it first necessary to convince itself that the information accessible to both governments about the facts of the case is complete and in accord.

Was British Auxiliary Cruiser.

"The government of the United States proceeds on the assumption that the Lusitania should be regarded as an ordinary unarmed merchantman. The imperial government allows itself in this connection to point out that the Lusitania was one of the largest and fastest British merchant ships, built with government funds as an auxiliary cruiser and armed expressly as such in the 'Navy List' issued by the British admiralty.

"It is further known to the imperial government, from trustworthy reports from its agents and neutral passengers that for a considerable time practically all the more valuable British merchantmen have been equipped with cannon and ammunition, and other weapons, and manned with persons who have been especially trained in serving guns. The Lusitania, too, according to information received here, had cannon aboard, which were mounted and concealed below decks.

"The imperial government further has the honor to direct the particular attention of the American government to the fact that the British admiralty in a confidential instruction, issued in February 1915, recommended its mercantile shipping not only to seek protection under neutral flags and distinguishing marks, but also, while thus disguised, to attack German submarines by ramming. As a special incitation to merchantmen to destroy submarines the British government also offered high prizes and has already paid such rewards.

Carried Troops and Arms.

"The imperial government, in view of these facts, indubitably known to it, is unable to regard British merchantmen in the zone of naval operations specified by the admiralty staff of the German navy as undefended. German commanders consequently are no longer able to observe the customary regulations of the prize law, which they before always followed.

"Finally, the imperial government must point out particularly that the Lusitania on its last trip, as on earlier occasions, carried Canadian troops and war material, included no less than 5,400 cases of ammunition intended for the destruction of the brave German soldiers who are fulfilling their duty with self-sacrifice and devotion in the fatherland's service.

"The German government believes it was acting in justified self-defense in seeking with all the means of warfare at its disposition to protect the lives of its soldiers by destroying ammunition intended for the enemy.

"The British shipping company must have been aware of the danger to which the passengers aboard the Lusitania were exposed under these conditions. The company in embarking them notwithstanding this, attempted deliberately to use the lives of American citizens as protection for the ammunition aboard and acted against the clear provisions of the American law which expressly prohibits the forwarding of passengers on ships carrying ammunition and provides a penalty therefor. The company, therefore is wantonly guilty of the death of so many passengers.

"There can be no doubt, according to the definite report of submarine's commander, which is further confirmed by all other information, that the quick sinking of the Lusitania is primarily attributable to the explosion of the ammunition shipment caused by a torpedo. The Lusitania passengers would otherwise, in all human probability, have been saved.

Ending Submarine War.

"The imperial government considers the above mentioned facts important enough to recommend them to the attentive examination of the American government.

"The imperial government, while withholding its final decision on the demands advanced in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania until receipt of an answer from the American government, feels impelled, in conclusion, to recall here and now that it took cognizance with satisfaction of the mediatory proposals submitted by the United States government to Berlin and London as a basis for a modus vivendi for conducting the maritime warfare between Germany and Great Britain.

"The imperial government, by its readiness to enter upon a discussion of these proposals, then demonstrated its good intentions in ample fashion. The realization of these proposals was defeated as is well known, by the declinatory attitude of the British government."

Rev. Joseph K. Griffis (Tahan), Captured by Indians When a Babe, to Lecture at Coming Redpath Chautauqua

TAHAN AS HE IS TODAY.

A MOST interesting feature of our coming Redpath Chautauqua program will be the appearance on one evening of Tahan (Rev. Joseph K. Griffis) in his great lecture, "Up From Savagery." Allied in full Indian dress, he relates a thrilling life story as ever felt to the lot of any man in America.

Mr. Griffis' mother was a quarter breed Osage woman. His father was a white man, a scout known all over the frontier by the name of California Joe. Their home was near the present site of the city of Gainesville, in Texas.

A band of Kiowa Indians raided that section when Mr. Griffis was but a babe and carried into captivity large numbers of the inhabitants. They killed his mother, and Chief Zepherone of the Kiowas took the baby with him, back to the country of the Kiowas, and presented him to his wife, who decided that his name should be Tahan, which means "Texas man." The story of his capture was told the boy long years afterward by an Indian of the tribe who participated in the raid.

The boy loved his foster parents as though they had been his own, and they took the same care of him that they did of their own children. He tells many interesting stories of how they taught him obedience to his parents, respect for the only gods they knew anything about and of his father's instruction in hunting buffalo and other game and in horseback riding and long distance traveling. He also tells many stories of privation on the southwestern plains and how they drank water from buffalo tracks and ate their meat raw. He learned how to kindle fires in a pouring rain without matches and to tie a horse to a hole in the ground; also how to tell the tribe to which an Indian belongs by the shape of his moccasins as left in the dust tracks.

Tahan witnessed the so called battle between the Indians and Oster's Seventh cavalry along the Washita river, in what is now known as the state of Oklahoma. The captives, of whom Tahan was one, were driven on to the settlers' camp, and it was just following this that Tahan learned he was not a Kiowa Indian and that the chief and his wife were not his real parents. The white men contended that he was not an Indian and that he was a captive among them, and the story of the raid into Texas then came out. The Indians were compelled to give him up, and one of the white men took him into Texas, where he slept in the quarters of the horses.

One night, however, he became so lonesome and homesick that he took one of the horses and hit the trail toward the Kiowa country and eventually found a road which led him to the camp and to his old Indian companions, where he remained until he was sixteen.

An time went on the Indians began to mingle quite freely with the whites, who were constantly becoming more numerous on the frontier, and the Kiowa were invited to attend an agricultural fair and horse race at Muskogee. In one of the races Tahan, riding his pony, Lincoln, won, and a government officer who witnessed the race immediately sent for Tahan and arranged with him to enlist for special duty as a scout. For two and a half years he served in this capacity, when one day he was insulted by a young lieutenant. Then he and another soldier, known as "Fire Whiz," deserted and fled to the Cheyennes.

They were captured, court martialled and sentenced to death. Imprisoned at Fort Reno, awaiting the day of execution, they cut a hole through the prison roof and escaped in the darkness of the night.

For three years Tahan was a wanderer, suspicious and afraid of everybody. Toward the latter part of his wanderings he crossed the border into Canada and one night in London, Ont., stopped to listen to the Salvation Army on the street. He went to the meeting in the Salvation Army hall, became a member of the Salvation Army and was later promoted to be a captain.

After some ten years' work with the Salvation Army he took up work as an evangelist independently. About the year 1887 he went to Cleveland and held revival meetings in the Seranton Avenue Free Baptist Church. Out of this revival came the Middlebury Free Baptist Church of that city, with a good membership.

Next he went to Buffalo, where he held meetings in the Free Baptist Church, out of which grew the Second Free Baptist Church, at the corner of Grant and Ferry streets, and later he served this church as pastor.

He had a strong leaning, however, toward the Presbyterian Church and finally decided to change to that denomination. He was subsequently ordained into the Presbyterian Church and became pastor of the South Presbyterian Church of Buffalo, a church of some 200 members. While pastor of that church he started other missions in that city, which have since grown into churches.

He was attending a missionary meeting in Buffalo one day when the pardon for the technical offense he had committed while a savage was brought to him by Rev. Ward, pastor of another Presbyterian Church in that city. Rev. Griffis had told a few of his friends of the technical charge which was hanging over him, and they took it up with President Cleveland, who when he heard all the circumstances quickly granted the pardon.

Following his conversion Rev. Griffis was for a time also a missionary among the Indians. He spent a year and a half among the Senecas in New York state. He has visited the Chippewas in Minnesota, the Sioux in Dakota, the Utes in southern Colorado, the different tribes in Indian Territory and the Ojibwas in Canada.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—aches in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the gravest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to woman a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

DUSTLESS STREETS.

The absence of dust on the streets of Union City, since receiving a coat of oil, creates a most favorable impression on visitors, who are accustomed to driving in clouds of dust, such as Hickman usually has. Every where the dust nuisance is becoming a problem for municipal, rather than individual consideration, and oil serves the double purpose of laying the dust and keeping the streets in good condition during rainy spells—by causing the water to run off quickly. It is also a good disinfectant, hence, a benefit to public health. The oil proposition may not reach us this year or next, but in time it will come. It is not a luxury—but a necessity.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs.
Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

MAKING DAIRYING PROFITABLE IN SOUTH

A Famous Tennessee Shorthorn Cow.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A large portion of the dairy products of the South is marketed in the form of butter. In the past this has brought low prices because it has not been regarded as of high quality. For dairymen to be profitable to him as it should be, the southern farmer must take pains to produce milk and cream of good quality as this determines to a great extent the quality of the butter.

To make good butter it is necessary to have clean milk from clean, healthy cows. Even a trace of dirt in the milk from uncleanly cows is not safe. Special attention should be given to the condition of the udder, and any milk which appears slimy orropy or otherwise abnormal should be discarded. Long hair favors the accumulation of filth, therefore the hair on flanks and udder should be clipped. The body of the cow should also be kept free from mud and manure, and the bedding must be clean and dry and used in sufficient quantities to keep the cow comfortable when in the stable.

It is impossible to keep the cow clean if the stable is dirty. In consequence a hard floor without cracks is a necessity. The walls and ceiling should be free from dust or cobwebs, and at least once a year they should be whitewashed. Manure should be taken out at least once a day and kept some distance from the stable. The barnyard should contain no mudholes and be so arranged as to drain away from the building. A clean yard is of great help in keeping cows clean.

Avoid Disagreeable Flavors.

The character of the feed may also affect the milk. Such feeds as rape, cabbage, turnips and silage may impart a disagreeable flavor and they should, therefore, be given after instead of immediately before milking. When the pastures are overrun with garlic or wild onion the cows should be removed three or four hours before they are milked. Moldy and decayed feed should never be used, as it may seriously affect the cows' health and change the character of the milk. It is also important to avoid anything that will make dust in the stable at milking time, and hence dusty hay should not be fed immediately before milking, nor the cows bedded at this time.

Still another important point is the water supply. Cows need an abundance of water and this should always be fresh and pure. A good water supply is, in fact, an absolute necessity for the production of the best quality of milk and cream. Without an abundance of pure water it is unlikely that the various utensils used in a dairy will be properly cleaned, and therefore the milk will inevitably suffer in quality. A description of useful equipment is contained in a special publication of the United States department of agriculture entitled "Farm Conveniences for Handling the Cow and Her Product," which may be had on application.

Cleanliness must extend beyond the cow and the stable to the milkers themselves. They should milk with dry clean hands and the cow's udder and flanks should be wiped off with a damp cloth to remove any loose dirt or hair which might fall into the milk. Each time that they are used all the milk utensils should be rinsed, first with cold or lukewarm water and then washed with hot water which contains some washing powder, such as sal soda. Soap and soap powders are not desirable. Fiber brushes are more easily kept clean than wash-rags and are, therefore, better. After the utensils have been washed thoroughly they should be rinsed in scalding water and inverted in a rack in a clean place and screened from flies. Improperly washed utensils tend to turn milk sour and also acquire a bad odor which warm milk quickly absorbs.

The milk should be removed at once from the stable and taken to some place where it can be cooled to a temperature of 50 degrees Fahrenheit or lower, and held there until it is disposed of. All flies and odors should be carefully guarded against.

Separator Is Necessary.

For the production of cream of the best quality a separator is necessary. If none is available the milk should be put into deep or "shotgun" cans, which are preferable to the old-fashioned shallow vessels. In skimming the milk it is desirable to produce a cream that contains not less than 30 per cent of butterfat, as such cream sours less quickly than thinner cream. The cream should not be permitted to stand in a warmer temperature than 50 degrees Fahrenheit, and the temperature should be as much below this as possible. Warm cream mixed with cold cream will tend to sour the whole mass.

When the cream is intended for the ice cream or retail trade it should be delivered daily. If intended for the creamery and proper care is taken of it, deliveries twice a week in winter and three times in summer may be sufficient. In hot weather cream cans should be protected with blankets during delivery to prevent a rise in temperature.

MAKE SIRUP FROM SORGHUM

Cultivation of Plant Is Much Like
Corn—Planting Should Be Done
When Soil Is Warm.

(By A. J. LEOG.)

Sorghum is divided into two general classes. In the first are included all of the varieties which contain enough sugar that it will pay to cultivate for the sugar. This class is the saccharine class.

In the second class is included the varieties that are cultivated for the seed stalks, etc., used for feed for farm animals. This class is called the non-saccharine class. It contains some sugar, but is low in sugar contents while the saccharine class may contain as much as 20 per cent of sugar in its juice.

The saccharine or sweet varieties are cultivated primarily for the sugar, but the seed and blades both make good feed for animals.

The seeds make good feed for almost any farm animal and for poultry. Sorghum is cultivated very much like corn. It is planted in rows 3 1/2 to 4 feet apart and the hills are about two feet apart in the row, with four or five stalks to the hill.

The first cultivation is very tedious, as the plants start off slowly, but after the plants get up a little the cultivation is not more difficult than corn. An acre of good sorghum will yield from one hundred to two hundred gallons of sirup, worth from forty to fifty cents per gallon.

The planting should be done a little later than early corn, as the sorghum will not do much growing until the soil gets warm. When the seed gets ripe, the stalks are bladed and the blades cured and tied into bundles.

The cane is cut and tops cut off. The tops or seed head should be allowed to dry out before storing away, else they will mold.

The stalks are crushed in a cane mill and the juice strained and boiled either in an evaporator or a large pan.

Before the juice reaches the boil, all of the green scum must be skimmed off.

Another way to dispose of the green scum is to put the juice in a long, deep box with small holes in one end, corked with wooden plugs for drawing off the juice without agitating the scum in the box.

The box is filled with juice and about one-fourth bushel of well pulverized clay with a little sand in it as can be got in put in the juice and well stirred. In a few minutes the clay will begin to sink and the green scum will adhere to it. The clay will take all of the green to the bottom of the box.

As soon as the green scum and the clay sink sufficient to allow the pure juice to run from the top hole it may be opened and the juice drawn off. Then the second hole from the top is opened, and so on until the juice is all drawn off and only the pulverized clay and the green scum remain.

When this is done the juice may be boiled into sirup without the trouble of skimming by hand.

The clay method of cleansing the juice is preferable to the old plan of skimming as it makes a better, clearer sirup and the purifying is done before the sirup is heated.

INSURE FERTILITY OF EGGS

One Vigorous Male Might Take Care of Twenty Hens, But It Is Considered Risky Business.

While a vigorous male might be allowed outtings of as high as twenty hens, it is usually risky business to allow such a number to one male bird. Again, it is quite often just as risky to allow but three or four hens in the pen with one male bird. The fewer the number of hens the more worrisome the male bird, to the detriment of the egg fertility.

BEHIND the humor in this drawing we can read a little MORAL. Many folks are as SOFT as the snow man when the SUN of PROSPERITY beams down on them. They hold up a thin umbrella of GOOD INTENTIONS and cry: "See; we are playing safe. We're not spending more than we make." But the cloud SUDDENLY hides the sun. They are left a shapeless, melted mass. Then they are SORRY they didn't contract a steady, thorough BANKING HABIT.

THAT AUTO LICENSE.

Automobile owners here and elsewhere seem to be doing kind of a hesitation in regard to re-nuiting the state license fee. The scandal in the secretary of state's office last year as to the way this fund was handled is probably one reason why this tax is not taken seriously; and another drawback is that some have been paying regularly, while others have operated cars for years and paid nothing. This law is weak somewhere. It is continually violated but we hear of no fines being made. The law should be uniformly enforced—or uniformly ignored.

CUTTING COST OF LIVING.

Any old way you choose to go, one finds throughout the country this year a fine lot of gardens. However insignificant it might seem, the garden is a potent factor in cutting the high cost of living. After all, the "hard times" of last year have proven a blessing in disguise. Financier and furnishing the share cropper and tenant this year has not been such a burden on the land lord, and the garden has been one means of lifting the burden. In the end, both parties will come out ahead. Another step of equal importance is the raising of one's own meat, which every farmer can and should do.

HOW LITTLE WE KNOW.

The world is full of mysteries. The chambers in which the infant opens its eyes is a universe of mysteries. The father's voice, the mother's smile, reveal to it slowly the mysterious world of the affections. The child solves many of these mysteries; but as the circle of knowledge is enlarged, its vision is always bound by a veil of mystery. The sun that wakens it at morning, and again at night looks in at its window to bid it farewell, the tree that shades its home, and in whose branches the birds sing before the dews are dry, the clouds with shimmering edges that move across the sky, calm and stately, like the chariot of an angel—all are mysteries. Nay, to the grown-up man there is not a thing which the hand touches, or on which the eye rests, which is not enveloped in mysteries. The flower that springs at your feet—who has revealed the wonderful secret of its organization? Its roots shoot down, and leaf and flower rise up and expand into the infinite abyss of mystery. We are like the enigmatis, traveling through an unknown wilderness; they stop at night by a flowing stream; they feed their horses, set up their tents and build a fire; and as the flames rise up, all within the circle of a few rods around it distinct and clear in its light. But beyond and bounding this are rocks dimly seen, the trees with vague outline stoop forward to the blaze; and beyond the branches creak, and the waters murmur over their beds, and wild, unknown animals howl in the dark realms of night and silence. Such is the light of man's knowledge, and so it is bounded by the infinite realms of mystery.

The Carroll Gleees Scheduled For Our Chautauqua Program

THE Carroll Gleees are coming to town Chautauqua week, and, in addition to their vocal work as a male quartet, both in solos and ensemble, they will introduce a most pleasing instrumental feature—a quartet of saxophones.

Though the Carroll Gleees have all the enthusiasm of a college glee club, their work is at all times artistic and refined, and their long experience before the public has given them excellent discretion in the choice of selections.

The personnel of this quartet is as follows: Burleigh E. Jacobs, first tenor and pianist; Earl A. Lockman, second tenor and manager; John S. Otten, first bass and leader; Russell E. Oakes, second bass.

Their program includes compositions by such composers as Nivola, Rhodes, Buck and Sullivan. During each program one sacred number is given.

Tuesday Afternoon and Tuesday night.

Chicago—the Great Metropolis and Summer Resort

Cooled by Lake Michigan, Beautified by a Wonderful Park System, It Combines the Features of the Seashore, the Country and the City

1 Chicago, the second largest city in the western hemisphere and the fifth largest in the world is worth seeing.

2 It can be visited from June to October more favorably and with more pleasing results than at any other time of the year. Its summer days are delightfully comfortable, with sunny skies and with cool breezes from off the lake.

3 There is nothing pent up or enclosed about Chicago. Its wonderful parks and connecting boulevard system, and its general up-building on the open order principle, with a vast outlying prairie country forming its land boundaries, supplement the climatic influence of the lake and give breezes from all quarters a chance for free circulation, thus making it a favorable city in which to sojourn during any portion of the summer.

4 Its location at the foot of Lake Michigan makes it a seashore city in every respect, except that the waters that lave its shores are fresh instead of salt. From its beaches and water front one looks out on the same broad expanse and water-line horizon as does one at the Atlantic Coast resorts.

5 Flanking the heart of the great residential district of the city are the bathing beaches of Chicago which may be, and are, enjoyed by all classes of people. These beaches dot the lake shore from 79th Street on the South to Clarendon Street on the North Side. Alternating with these and for fifteen miles north is also a number of free and private beaches. Free for bathing suits and lockers are normal, and if you go to the beach from your boarding house or hotel in your own bathing suit the lake is free.

6 Its park and connecting boulevard system aggregates 4,612 acres. Divided into three principle groups, in as many sections of the city, the parks and boulevards are most beautiful examples of the best art in landscape gardening, and in these parks it may be said that it is doubtful if any city in the world does more for the pleasure of the people, or if in any other city the people of all classes get more rational and continuous enjoyment out of the parks than in the case in Chicago. In addition to its principal parks are the numerous small community parks, famous the world over, and small municipal parks, playgrounds and bathing beaches.

7 One can make lake trips from the port of Chicago, varying from little local excursions to the parks and beaches, to an extended tour of the chain of Great Lakes. Among these trips are those of a day or more to neighboring cities, such as Milwaukee, Michigan City, St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Holland, Saugatuck, Grand Haven and Muskegon. The steamship service for both short and extended trips is of the best, with efficient up-to-date boats.

8 Opportunities for automobile tours in and about Chicago are not only possible but delightful from a scenic point of view. In the city alone the tourist can travel over 180 miles of beautiful boulevards and park drives. Northward, a run of about 30 miles can be made following the lake shore through beautiful suburbs to Ft. Sheridan and the Government Naval Training Station. Westward, the motorist can run to the Fox Lake and Geneva Lake regions and to Delavan, Elgin and Aurora. Southwestward, for about 100 miles or more, a motor trip can be taken to Starved Rock, Deer Park and a section of the Illinois River Country, replete with a historic past and charming with its scenic attractions.

9 Golf courses in the parks and numerous Country and Golf Club links furnish ample facilities for the golf devotee. Yachting and motor boating are also among the sporting activities of the city. High class summer and amusement gardens are to be found in all sections of the city, and three major league baseball teams will help keep extremely busy the visitors seeking such forms of recreation.

10 In the city itself will be found innumerable attractions as well as the highest class hotels and restaurants of the country. Among the former may be mentioned the Art Institute, the libraries, the Chicago Historical Society, the Academy of Science, the University of Chicago, the Field Museum of Natural History, Hull House, Christa District and the Union Stock Yards. Also the famous loop shopping district, in which will be found stores having no equal elsewhere in the world.

11 Send to the undersigned for a free copy of the beautiful illustrated booklet entitled, "Chicago for the Tourist," issued by the Illinois Central Railroad Company to supplement the above meager suggestions as to why Chicago is more than worth a visit during the summer months.

Chicago Is Best Reached by the Efficient Train Service of the Illinois Central

CHICAGO'S SKY LINE FROM THE LAKE

FINE DIRT ROAD.

Fulton county's dirt roads are not excelled in the State. One can almost determine the location of the county line by the condition of the roads. But, unfortunately, these conditions do not prevail the year 'round. When the heavy, full traffic starts, later followed by rains and freezes, the standard of excellence, which prevails in May and June, is soon diminished and—alas, alas!

NOTICE.

The Republican of Fulton county are hereby ordered to meet at the court house, at Hickman, Ky., Saturday, June 12, 1915, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to send to the State Convention at Lexington, Ky., June 15, 1915.

HORSE 53 YEARS OLD.

The oldest horse that served the country in the War of the Rebellion is still alive, at the age of 53 years, at Horseheads, N. Y. It is owned by P. A. McIntosh, who is also a veteran of the same war. To prove his assertion Mr. McIntosh shows the government brand on the animal's hip, which reads "U. S. 1865." Horse and man served in the same regiment. Although bent with age, his hair turning gray and his teeth becoming worn, the old warhorse is still able to eat 12 quarts of oats and take his master to town several times a week. It is estimated the animal is at least 53 years old.

COMPLIMENTS HAMPTON.

Rev. Hampton, of the Christian church, delivered the commencement sermon for the Union City graduates on the evening of May 20th. Among other things, the News-Banner says:

"Rev. Ben Wade Hampton, a tall, strapping, robust minister of the Christian church, from Kentucky, was introduced by Prof. Nute, and he delivered a magnificent address on 'The Abolition of Provincialism.' His subject might have been the abolition of guile-eyed narrowness or it might have been looking at life and the things of life from more than one angle or it might have been climbing the tree of knowledge to get a bigger and broader outlook on life. The speaker bore a remarkable resemblance to the late Governor Bob Taylor."

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Fulton Circuit Court, Ky.

L. E. Stowe, Etc., Plaintiff, against Doris Byrn, Etc., Defendant. Equity.

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of Fulton Circuit Court, rendered at the Term thereof, 191— in the above cause, for a settlement of the estate of J. W. Stowe, deceased, and costs herein, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in Hickman, Ky., to the highest bidder, at PUBLIC AUCTION, on the 14th day of June 1915 at Two (2) o'clock p. m., or thereabout (being County Court day), upon a credit of six months the following property, to-wit: Lot No. 1, in the division of the land in the case of W. T. Kays Vs Ellen Anderson, beginning at a stake on the north line of the quarter section 18 poles east of the Mississippi River bank, pointers, Sycamore; northeast 28 links Locust; northwest 64½ links Sycamore; south of east 72 links; thence north 89¼ degrees east 204½ poles including the 18 poles to a stake, the quarter section corner, pointers Hackberry, north of west 40 links Locust; southeast 27 links small Ash tree; south of west 24 links; then south ¼ degree west 60 poles to a Locust in Slough; thence 89¼ degrees west 223 poles to the River bank, thence up said river to an intersection of the north boundary line on river bank, containing 80 acres more or less, being conveyed to J. W. Stowe by W. T. Kays November 30th, 1906 deed of record in D. B. No. 25, page 77, Fulton County Court Clerks office.

For the purchase price, the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute Bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. R. MILNER,
Commissioner.

The liquor orators of Kentucky, sailing under the county unit flag, are "sweating like a Turkish bath" trying to make the farmers believe that they (the orators) are "simon pure Anti-saloon Democrats," if the people could only see clear. But the old farmer "shifts his quid" and says, "You look like a whiskey man, and you smell like a whiskey man, and damed if I don't believe you are a whiskey man."

ICE!

A Coupon Book Saves

Time and Money

Here's one way, Mrs. Consumer, that you can help us give you better service, at the same time saving yourself trouble, annoyance and a tidy sum on your ice cost.

Our Coupon Books contain perforated coupons, each worth a certain number of pounds of ice. In buying ice these coupons are just like cash. The biggest advantages to you and to us are that no time is lost while you must hunt up the purse—no trouble in making correct change—no wet, dirty coins to handle.

Keep the book in a safe place near the ice chest; then you'll know exactly where to find it each time. Tear out as many coupons as required to pay for the ice you need. Have the wagon stop regularly and deliver good, pure ice—it's the most economical item of your household bills.

CAR BURNED UP.

The Overland car of Jack Melton, who lives on the farm of A. J. Burrow, north of Fulton, was burned up Sunday at Crutchfield. Mr. Melton had driven his car over there and was talking to some friends. One of them struck a match to light a cigar and as he threw it down the gasoline became ignited and the whole car was in flames in almost a moment of time. It was destroyed by the flames.

What Of It?

Even if we do sell soda—good soda too, even if we do supply our customers with the best drug store merchandise at the lowest price, that is no reason why anyone should think that we cannot give the best prescription service.

No department in our store is a drag to any other department. Each in itself is successful, that is why when you have a prescription to fill, just bear in mind the fact that lowest prices prevail in our Prescription Department, because it does not have to carry any unprofitable department. You profitable department. You get true, fresh drugs, skillful service and most reasonable prices when we fill your prescriptions.

"HICKMAN RESEMBLES EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND."

Rev. J. W. Blackard, who seventeen years ago was pastor in this city, recently motored over from Fulton to meet old friends and view the city he left so many years ago. In a write-up of his trip, he said in part:

"There has been some improvement and growth but no marked change in this picturesque little city since this writer lived there nearly a score of years ago. Hickman is a unique little city, sparkling like a diamond on the bluffs that overlook the great 'Father of Waters.' I have visited many towns and cities, both in the United States and in Europe, but have never seen a town just like Hickman as to physical features. Some parts of Edinburgh, Scotland, resemble Hickman, or Hickman resembles some parts of Edinburgh. A few of those met were the Randles, the Hubbards, the Smiths, the Anders, the Stephens, Enghes, Clowgills, etc. At 12 o'clock we reached the elegant country residence of A. H. Leet, three miles east of Hickman on the State road. A magnificent dinner awaited us there and as we sat down to the feast we thought of 'ye' hungry editors and wished for your presence. Leet is a staunch Methodist, a prosperous and progressive farmer and runs in connection with his farm a creamery. His herd of forty Jerseys at milking time was an interesting sight. Don't you know that we feasted on cream and butter! Leet and his good wife and son and two charming daughters entertained us royally. The day was ideal, the roads were perfect. We went by the State-lane road and came back over the State road. This writer has heard for twenty years of the magnificent country lying between Fulton and Hickman. After viewing the country he was like the queen of Sheba when she visited Solomon and reached the conclusion that the half had not been told. The land is gently undulating and as rich as cream. Taking it all together, there is no finer section of country in the world than this section lying between Hickman and Fulton."

John S. Murphey, age 71 years, died at his home in Fulton, Thursday afternoon. Deceased was an uncle of Mrs. W. T. Roundard and Mrs. H. E. Prather, of Hickman. Deceased was born and reared in Union county on State Line, about six miles southwest of Fulton. Mr. Murphey was a good man, a consistent member of the Christian church, and respected by all who knew him. He is survived by his beloved wife, four sons and three daughters. His daughters are Mrs. I. W. Doh-lans, Mrs. Stewart McElroy and Mrs. H. T. Alexander. His sons are Messrs. Harry, Nat, Du-lap and Jack Murphey. All his children live in Fulton except Nat Murphey.

John Weatherly, Hickman, says: "I was a victim of kidney complaint. I had to get up many times during the night to pass the kidney secretions and was all tired out in the morning. I doctored and tried a lot of remedies, but to no avail. Finally, Doan's Kidney Pills came to my attention and I got a supply from Helm & Nelson's Drug Store. They made my kidneys normal and improved my condition in every way." (Statement given April 15, 1908.)

Over three years later Mr. Weatherly said: "You are at liberty to use the statement I gave some years ago recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

Dr. and Mrs. Horace Luten motored over from Fulton Sunday. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Maggie Randle and grand son, Wilson Randle.

SMALL BOY INJURED. TRIED TO HOP AUTO.

Earl, the little son of Bert Carter, of West Hickman, was right sharply hurt Monday, the result of trying to hop a "jitney," driven by Richard Smith. His first attempt was successful, inasmuch as the driver managed to grab the little fellow and hold him until the car stopped; but a second try was not so fortunate. The momentum of the car caused a fall that skinned and bruised Earl considerably and required the services of a physician to dress and patch up.

This should be a warning to other boys, who unthoughtfully, make attempts to "hop" and ride-passing automobiles. Even though the car is running slow, the driver cannot always stop in time to avert an accident.

HON. JOHN W. NEWMAN COMING TO HICKMAN.

Hon. John W. Newman, State Commissioner of Agriculture, and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will speak in Hickman on Thursday, June 10. Mr. Newman is from Woodford county, where he is a most successful farmer. He claims that men from every walk in life have offered themselves for office but he is the only farmer who has asked to be made the State's chief executive. Being a practical farmer he is in sympathy with the farmers and will have many interesting things to say to them.

Mr. Newman should have a large crowd to hear him.

DAILY GROWING WORSE.

The German submarine menace is bringing officials to realize the great danger facing England if Germany increases largely the number of her under-sea craft. This has been impressed on the British mind by the success of submarines operating in the Dardanelles, their ever-increasing activity around the British Isles and the threat to carry this form of warfare to the Suez canal and trade which passes through that waterway. Friday came the reports of the sinking of the British steamers Cadely and Speunmoor and the Swedish bark M. Rosvall, and a statement that a big liner Argylshire was chased and fired on by an undersea boat but escaped to Hurve.

Marconi is said to have invented an instrument with which one can see through a thick wall, brick or stone. The gossipers are only hoping it will be cheap enough for them to have one to assist them in their nefarious business of prying into other people's actions. TALK OF BUYING LOWER CALIFORNIA.

The old proposal that the United States should acquire Lower California is receiving more attention lately. There are two reasons given for such a step. One is of particular interest to California, and the other to the country in general.

First, it is pointed out that the great imperial valley of Southern California, which has 250,000 acres under cultivation and might have three times that much, can never be properly developed or even properly protected without the annexation of some of the territory below the border. The trouble is with the Colorado river. It brings life to the valley, and at the same time threatens death. At the border, the river's natural flow is back toward the north, into the Salton sink. It has been forced to continue southward into the Gulf of Mexico, by a mud dam at the northern end of Volceno lake. This barrier, engineers say, will not permanently remain. This barrier, engineers say, will not permanently remain effective. The silt carried by the river is raising the level of the lake and threatening a general inundation some day. There is need of enlarging this dam, and constructing a permanent restraining work at the place where the river leaves its original channel and flows toward the lake.

But both of these dam sites are in Mexican territory, and the United States government is therefore hampered in carrying out the requisite plans. Why, it is argued, should not Lower California be bought, so as to facilitate the development of this area north of the present boundary, worth more than the whole peninsula? It would be possible too, for Americans to develop some of the land below the line, which it isn't likely the Mexicans will ever utilize.

The other reason is mainly strategic. The ownership of Lower California would give us a continuous stretch of territory down the coast 800 miles nearer the Panama Canal, strengthening our hold on that great waterway and providing us with valuable harbors and cooling stations.

The peninsula is of little value to Mexico. It is sparsely settled, the soil is unproductive and it is almost entirely separated from the Mexican mainland. Buying it, however—and of course we could acquire it in no other way—is a difficult matter.

This brings the membership up to about 175, and the Moose is easily the fastest growing lodge in Hickman; at the same time, the youngest.

This order has just completed handsome quarters in the old city hall, which they have leased for a period of five years. While all their furniture has not arrived, a glimpse of the interior of their hall now is sufficient to show that it will be elegantly and tastefully furnished. The remodeling, too, was done with a view to ease and comfort of its membership, and this has been carried out to the fullest extent. The club room rules are very rigid and will be enforced to the letter. No unbecoming conduct will be tolerated, and the Grand Lodge is behind the local officers in the carrying out of strict and commendable regulations.

The Moose is a good order in many ways. Here's wishing it continued prosperity.

It is hardly necessary for us to add, in view of the fact that Judge Thomas is a neighbor to our people, that he is qualified for the place he seeks. If elected, he will certainly discharge the duties of this important office with honor to himself and credit to his constituency. None of his opponents could do more. PADUCAH-TO-MEMPHIS
HIGHWAY PLANNED.

Delegates from the commercial organizations at Martin, Jackson, Obion, Trimble, Newbern, Ripley, Covington, Dyersburg, Tenn., and Fulton, Ky., met in Union City, Tuesday for the purpose of boosting the Paducah-to-Memphis highway.

It was decided at this meeting to put on foot a general good roads working day on July 29 for the purpose of arousing interest in a main highway from Paducah to Memphis, Tenn. Steps are to be taken to have Gov. Rye to declare a holiday for West Tennessee in order that all towns through which the highway will pass may have the enthusiastic support of all classes. Supplementing the general road working day of July 29, an automobile booster trip, beginning June 22 and ending June 24 has been planned. It is contemplated that this booster trip will start at Fulton on 22 and end in Memphis on the 24th. Plans were also laid for a similar booster trip to be arranged from Paducah to Fulton, prior to the trip for West Tennessee, but to end June 31.

If the plan is successful, Hickman motorists will be in position to take advantage of the highway by merely driving to Fulton; and, as a rule, the Hickman-Fulton road is good.

MR. GUS THOMAS NOT CANDID WITH THE PEOPLE.

If Mr. Gus Thomas wishes to interest the voters in his candidacy for the Court of Appeals, it behooves him to deal frankly with the people.

Mr. Thomas has circularized that part of the district west of the Tennessee River with a statement that during the 123 years of Kentucky's statehood the Appellate Judgeship has been west of the Tennessee River only 14 years, when, in fact, it has been there 22 years and 3 months. Mr. Thomas evidently includes the 6-year term of Judge White from Carlisle, but he leaves out of his calculation either the 8-year term of Judge Lindsey, of Hickman, or the 8-year term of Judge William, from Graves, and Judge Quigley, an appointee from Paducah, who held the office three months. One would infer from Mr. Thomas' statement that the Judgeship had been in the counties of the present district east of the Tennessee River 109 years. Neither is this true. The following are the Judges from that part of the district: Judge Grace, from Trigg, one year and a few months; Judge Landon, from Christian, a Republican appointee, less than a year; Judge T. J. Nunn, from Hopkins, 11 years; Judge C. S. Nunn, from Crittenden, one year, making to all 14 years. Judge Bennett was elected from Livingston County, between the Cumberland and Tennessee Rivers. Either side ought to be proud to claim him. He held the office 7 years and 8 months. If Mr. Thomas rejects him, then charge his tenure to the eastern part, and it makes 21 years and 9 months against 22 years and 3 months for the western part.

The error of Mr. Thomas doubtless comes from overlooking several things which a lawyer should know: Until the third Constitution was adopted in 1850, all Judges were appointed by the Governor, and none of them were from any county of present district. From that time until the adoption of the present Constitution, in 1891, the court was composed of four Judges, and the districts were, of course, much larger than any of the seven into which the state is now divided. We have already named the only Judges from the district, as now constituted.

Geography is not a very commendable issue, anyhow, and Mr. Thomas should suggest some other qualification.—News-Democrat, Sturgis. (Advertisement)

FEATURES OF THE TABER PROGRAM

TABER, a magician of fifteen years' experience, will be in charge of Children's Night at the forthcoming Chautauqua here. But, while especially for children, his program will be filled with surprises and fun for old and young alike. The instantaneous production of flowers and showers of silk confetti are one of the features of the first part of the evening. There are also experiments in so-called spiritualism. Taber's cabinet tricks never fail to astonish his audiences. A committee is brought to the platform consisting of local people. One of the committee then Taber's hands securely to rings at each end of a bar which has first been passed through an opening at the top of a post. With his hands thus securely fastened the curtain is drawn. Soon cowbells begin to tinkle and strange noises are heard within the cabinet. Then the curtain is opened and the magician is seen tied securely just as the committee left him. A member of the committee is then taken inside the cabinet. The same noises are heard and hands appear above the curtain. When the curtain is drawn again the member of the committee is shown with the cowbells about his neck and his feet nearly removed. A true to life impersonation of the world's most famous magician, Hermann, the Great, is in many respects marvelous. Taber performs a number of Hermann's best experiments with all the cleverness of the original.

WILSON'S NEXT NOTE
ALMOST AN ULTIMATUM.

The war scare looms up larger every day. Pres. Wilson's reply to the German note will be vigorous and is calculated to be the next thing to an ultimatum. The whole affair is the outgrowth of the sinking of the British steamship Lusitania, at which time a least 100 Americans lost their lives. The Germans claim that they could not exercise the right of search, as this vessel was armed and was listed on the British admiralty records as an "auxiliary cruiser." Further, that when a vessel is thus armed, she is in a class with any other war vessel. The United States contends the Lusitania was not armed, although the manifest shows she carried over 5,000 cases of ammunition for Great Britain.

Further light is thrown on the subject by this special from Washington, yesterday.

The State Department has received four affidavits declaring that when the Lusitania sailed from New York on her last voyage she was armed with four guns of "good size"—two of them mounted forward and the other two in the stern. According to the affidavits, they were mounted on the upper deck.

Three of the affidavits are from persons who say they were told by a passenger, just before the Lusitania sailed, that he had seen the guns. The passenger was an American, and, according to the list of survivors, he was saved from the Lusitania. The fourth affidavit is from a man who says he also saw the guns.

From a State Department friend it was learned also that in traditions have been received that these affidavits would be followed by others questioning the manifest of the Lusitania.

In the manifest of the Lusitania appeared this item: "Furs, 149 packages valued at $119,220, consigned to Liverpool."

It was said today that an affidavit would be submitted by a person connected with the firm which made the shipment that the packages contained gunpowder. Evidence is expected also that the Lusitania's cargo contained acids used in the manufacture of explosives. It is not known just what these acids were, but it was remarked today that Collector Malone at New York has already reported that there was no peric acid, used in the manufacture of high explosives, on board the vessel.

The State Department does not expect a charge that the United Steamship Company, owners of the Lusitania, made a false manifest and violated the law in that regard. According to the statement of officials today, it is taken for granted that the steamship company was not responsible, as it proceeds on the sworn statement of the shippers that the packages they ship actually contain the merchandise described by them.

As it stands, we are on the verge of a rupture with Germany, and the next few days will likely bring the crisis. Much depends upon the affidavits mentioned above. If the ship was armed, then American custom officers and the steamship authorities—one for allowing an armed ship to clear and the other for permitting people to take passage—are in bad, and Germany would be sustained in her contention of right to attack the Lusitania in the war zone.

39 FEET PERICITED.
REACH STAND SUNDAY.

Well posted local rivermen say that present rise will reach a stand at Hickman Saturday or possibly Sunday, and will not exceed 39 feet on the Cairo gauge. The rise here last night was about four inches—less than half as much as the previous night.

The gauge at Cairo reads 37.8, a rise of 1.91.

Upper bottom farmers have already felt the effects of the high water, hundreds of acres of corn and other crops being inundated. This, however, is in the very lowest lands, and represents only a small per cent of the land subject to overflow in that section. Should the gauge go to 40 feet, it would mean disaster to practically all of the upper bottom, but we are assured that 39 is the limit of what's in sight. No additional rains have been reported and it is thought the worst is almost over.

MR. GUS THOMAS IS CANDID.

The article from the News-Democrat, of Sturgis, Ky., being published throughout the First Court of Appeals district in Kentucky, in regard to the claims of Hon. Gus Thomas, of Mayfield, as to why the western portion of the district is entitled to the office of judge of that court, is studiously misleading, and will not in the least effect the facts or deceive the voters.

It is stated in the article "Mr. Thomas has circularized that part of the district west of the Tennessee river with a statement that during the 123 years of Kentucky's statehood the appellate judgeship has been west of the Tennessee river only 14 years." When the facts are that no such statement has in any manner been circularized. On the back of Mr. Thomas' card it is stated that his friends "have entered the plea in his behalf that the section of the district west of the Tennessee river, is entitled to the office. They argue that the people east of the river have held the office more than 100 years of the 123 years that Kentucky has been a state." This statement is absolutely true, and is admitted in this article from the Sturgis paper published as stated, the times for west of said river includes the terms of Judge Williams for eight years, Judge Lindsay for eight years, Judge White for six years, and the three months appointment of Judge Quigley, making the part of the district east of the river have the office for 100 years and nine months, which is the claim made on the back of the card, where it says the office has been east of that river 100 years out of the 123 years of Kentucky's statehood.

Moreover in Mr. Thomas' formal announcement and in his letters he stated, "That the district west of Tennessee river had not elected to the place from among themselves in times of peace, a judge for last 14 years within the history of the state." This is also absolutely true for Judge Quigley was not elected for his three months term, nor was Judge Williams elected by the people, or in times of peace. The election at which he was chosen was held during the Civil War, when the resident voters were engaged upon one side, or the other of that conflict, and the election was what is universally known as a "bayonet rule election." It will thus be seen that Mr. Thomas' claim is entirely true, and that the Sturgis article is wholly misleading, and its benevolent purpose is glaringly apparent. Mr. Thomas is candid, and is not trying to deceive the voters along this line.—Mayfield Messenger.

WILSON TELLS MEXICANS
FIGHTING MUST STOP.

President Wilson served notice on the factional leaders of Mexico that unless, within "a very short time," they unite to set up a government which the world can recognize, the United States "will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

Signaling a change from the "watchful waiting" policy which has guided relations with Mexico for more than two years, the president's statement was regarded everywhere in official and diplomatic quarters as notice of a new and vigorous policy to restore peace below the Rio Grande.

Everywhere it is interpreted as a warning that the patience of the United States is exhausted. What steps the president is prepared to take, if his warning goes unheeded, is not disclosed in the statement. In high official quarters, nevertheless, no doubt existed that he was prepared to proceed.

She dreaded this once—as you dread it now!

Once she dreaded this tedious "strap-hanging" in crowded cars—dreaded the foot discomfort, the utter fatigue it brought her.

But now the difference now! See how fresh-looking she is, how unimpaired of the long ride home!

Come in and discover in the Red Cross Shoe what this woman did—utter freedom from foot discomfort in a chic, snug fitting last.

Try it on. See how the special Red Cross process makes this shoe adapt itself to every movement of your foot. At your first step you will realize that you have at last found just the smart appearance you want for your foot, with comfort such as you have never known before.

CHAUTAUQUA FOLKS
ARRANGING PARADE.

The chautauqua committee met last night with a representative of the Redpath bureau, and perfected arrangements for a wheel and ticket-selling campaign.

Today the town is being dressed in gay colored pennants for chautauqua week.

Miss Grace Lyon, an expert ticket seller, will arrive this afternoon to help the local committee with its work.

The committee wants to put on an automobile parade tomorrow Friday afternoon at three o'clock for the purpose of boosting the chautauqua. They would like to have sufficient cars to carry the Boy Scouts for an hour's drive. Every car owner who can and will help in this matter is requested to have his car at the Hickman drug corner between 1 and 2 o'clock to receive free decoration. This will be put on in a way not to interfere the car and will be easily taken off. Turn out and join the party, it will be giving the boys a little treat and at the same time create talk and interest in the forthcoming chautauqua.

Tickets now on sale and going rapidly.

Addressed Audience of 6,000.

Rev. Joseph R. Griggs, D.D., who is to lecture on this year's Redpath chautauqua program, took part in the Indian conference at Columbus, O., held under the auspices of the American Indian Association, two or three years ago. Talan is a member of this association. About fifty Indians were present from various parts of the country representing various tribes. It was a great meeting.

Papers and discussions on the welfare of the race were a part of the program. On Sunday, the 15th, Talan and several others addressed an audience of 6,000 people to one of the great halls of Columbus.

Elmer Peoples, a young man from Selmer, Tenn., was arrested and detained here first of the week on request of authorities of his home town. After considerable juggling over requisition, he finally decided to return and face the charges. He is said to have gotten into a shooting scrape, resulting in his being placed under a small bond, and later left his bondsmen with the bag to hold.

HE LOVED THE CHAUTAUQUA.

The Late Bishop McIntyre's Tribute to Our Great American Forum.

In view of the recent death of Robert McIntyre, bishop of the Methodist Church, his estimate of the Lyceum and Chautauqua movement is of especial interest. He said:

"I still love the Lyceum, especially in its summer dress, called Chautauqua. It was never more suggestive and masterful. Some great names are gone. I was at the work when through these, Coffey, Cook, Switzer, Phillips and Jones were at it, and I know that the general level of work is higher, the moral impact stronger, the confidence greater, the field broader and the outlook grander than in the days gone by.

"This movement is in its sturdy, classical youth. It will grow and possess the whole land. It is the child of the church with its mother's clear eyes and white hands.

"It will drop some expiring fables and stiffen into one of the most tremendous reform warriors the Lord ever let loose in this world.

"It will traverse the earth, speaking truth in forty languages, cutting all tribes and clans to do justice, love mercy and walk humbly with man and God."

The veriest tyro is bound to see that the submarine is destined to wholly revolutionize modern naval warfare. There will have to be a new adjustment all around. The German submarines are each day torpedoing and sinking from one to four English merchantmen. The English blockade of the German ports is about as effective as the blockade of a harbor's nest by a man with a pop-gun. The English merchant men, even with mighty fleets in their near vicinity, are as helpless as a horse hatched under a swarm of gadflies. All these signs and symptoms foreshadow a new order of things in naval warfare.—Ex.

H. C. Helm passed our office this morning pulling a mowing machine with his automobile. The machine was brought in from his bottom farm for repairs, but the possibilities of an auto as a light tractor was in this case amply demonstrated as a success. The next thing we know, Henry will have the car hitched to the machine out in the field and will be cutting hay with it.

The man who merely gives everybody the benefit of the doubt has a pretty good religion.

WAS WITH STANLEY IN AFRICA

Dr. W. A. Colledge, Who Is to Lecture Here
Chautauqua Week, Was Also Friend of Robert Louis Stevenson.

DR. WILLIAM A. COLLEDGE, director of the Redpath Educational Department, will deliver his great lecture on "The Fortune Hunter" on the forthcoming Redpath Chautauqua here. This lecture has proved very popular wherever it has been given.

Dr. Colledge was educated in Glasgow and London. He was associated with Dr. Gunnar as the head of the department of language and literature in Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, for nine years.

Dr. Colledge was for three years with Henry M. Stanley in his explorations in Darkest Africa and has also traveled extensively in Arabia, Egypt and throughout Europe. He was editor in chief of the New Standard Encyclopedia, first editor of the Technical World Magazine, fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, author of "Interpretative Studies of Scottish Authors" and "The Begging of the Modern Drama."

Henry Drummond was his close friend, and Robert Louis Stevenson was his neighbor from childhood. While a student in London it was his good fortune to see and hear and to come into intimate relations with such men as Gladstone, Spurgeon, Joseph Parker and Lord Beaconsfield.

Dr. Colledge was for years chairman of the board of trustees of the Monticello Seminary, Godfrey, Ill., the oldest girls' school in the state. He is now chairman of the board of trustees of the Columbia College of Expression, Chicago.

Dr. Colledge's lecture is a bright, sparkling presentation of the things that are vital to life, full of good, clean humor and bubbling over with human interest.

That best portion of a good man's life, his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love.—William Wordsworth.

Friendship by its very nature consists in loving, rather than in being loved. In other words, friendship consists in being a friend, not in having a friend.—H. Clay Trumbull.

History

The monuments of nations are all protests against nothingness after death; so are statues and inscriptions; so is history.—Lewis Wallace.

The arrow heads and earthen vessels laid by the side of the dead Indian, the silver obolus put in the mouth of the dead Greek to pay Charon's passage money; the furnishing of the Egyptian corps with the book of the dead, the papyrus roll containing the prayer he is to offer and the chart of his journey through the unseen world all testify for immortality.—Bartlett.

Let us learn to be content with what we have. Let us get rid of our false estimates, set us all the highest ideals—a quiet home vines of our own planting; a few friends worthy of being loved and able to love us in return; a hundred innocent pleasures that bring no pain or remorse; a devotion to the right that will never swerve; a simple religion empty of all dogma, full of trust, hope and love—and to such a philosophy this world will give up all the empty joy it has.—David Swing.

Science

The details of immortality lose their force under scientific inspection. The sciences clear the ground of objections and open the way for the fearless affirmation of man's immortality.—David Gregg.

Immortality is what philosophers call an ontological fact; it belongs essentially to the being of man. To my mind this is the great proof of immortality. The fact that it is written in human nature, written there so plain that the rudest nations have not failed to find it, to know it. What is thus in man is writ there of God, who writes no lies.—Theodore Parker.

Husband and Wife.

Preserve sacredly the privacies of your own house, your married state and your heart. Let no father or mother or sister or brother ever presume to come between you or share the joys or sorrows that belong to you two alone.

With mutual help, build your quiet world, not allowing your dearest, earthly friends to be the confident of aught that concerns your domestic peace. Let moments of alienation, if they occur, be healed at once. Never, no never, speak of outside, but to each other confess and all will come out right. Never let the tomorrow's sun still find you at variance. Renew and renew your vow. It will do you good; and thereby your mind will grow together contented in that love which is stronger than death, and you will be truly one.

Instinct.

The faith of immortality depends on a sense of it begotten, too, on an argument of it concluded.—Bushnell. Our hopes are God's written guarantees of immortality.—Agassiz. There is I know not how, in the minds of men a certain presage, as it were of a future existence, and this takes the deepest root and is most discoverable in the greatest geniuses and most exalted souls. Cicero. I never spoke with God, nor visited in heaven, yet certain am I of the spot as if the chart were given.—Emily Dickerson. It cannot be that earth is man's only abiding place. It cannot be that our life is a bubble cast up by the ocean of eternity, to float another moment upon its surface, and then sink into nothingness and darkness forever. Else why is it that the high and glorious aspirations which leap like angels from the temples of our hearts, are forever wandering abroad, satisfied?

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEATHLY SICK.

Stop Using Dangerous Drugs Before It Salivates You. It's Horrible!

You're listless, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Doodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless vegetable Doodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything after wards. (Advt.)

THE MEXICAN MUDDLE.

President Wilson has decided to serve notice on the warring factions in Mexico that conditions in that country have become intolerable and that unless they themselves, compose the situation soon, some other means may have to be employed to accomplish the result. The first intimation of the President's determination to take this step came in his appeal issued as head of the American Red Cross, setting forth that "due to several years of internal disturbances the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation," and urging contributions to the relief funds. This statement has been prepared and will be issued after the cabinet meeting and then he communicated to the leaders of the Mexican factions.

NEW PAPER AT FULTON.

We have before us No. 1, Vol. 1, of the Fulton Wireless, a new weekly publication at Fulton. R. T. and J. H. Moore are the editors and publishers, and Robin Roney is city editor. The paper is well filled with spicy, local news, and bears the earmarks of experienced newspaper men behind it. The Courier wishes the infant journal of Fulton county all success and hopes the Wireless may never need to send out the "S. O. S."

There is talk of a $4,000,000 ship building plant being constructed at Mobile, Ala. While the material as handy as it is in Alabama for ship building there has not been established here this a ship yard at Mobile, or some other point of the same section, has been an oversight on the part of ship builders.
